INTRODUCTION

As would be expected with a publication of this type, this third edition has been expanded from that which was issued last year. New this year are tables concerning the academic level of Summer Session students, sex of undergraduate applicants for admission, and percentage distribution of grades by school.

Data pertaining to students, faculty, programs, finances, and facilities of Madison College have been gathered from a variety of sources for the purpose of providing a reference that will be useful to the College community and other interested persons. These data have been carefully reviewed for consistency, validity, and appropriateness.

It is the intention of the Office of Institutional Research to prepare an annual statistical summary which will contain meaningful data, both historical and current, regarding various aspects of the College. The realization of this objective continues to be possible with the valuable assistance of the several College offices which have contributed information contained herein. Suggestions for the improvement of future editions are welcome.
